SOCIETY'S MIRROR

Weddings

Hunter-Williamson. One of the most interesting weddings of the entire season was that on Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. James Franklin Hunter gave in marriage her daughter, Jean Gray, to Dr. Wilson Lycurgus Williamson. Though very quietly solumnized the wedding was marked by a simple elegance which added much to the beauty and solomnity of the occasion.

The rooms thrown open for the wedding were beautifully decorated with

The rooms thrown open for the wedding were beautifully decorated with palms. ferms, smilax and a profusion of opring biossoms, pink roses and freesias being arranger in baskets in the drawing room, where an improvised altar banked with palms, ferms and flowers and highted by white tapers, amarked the place of the ceremony.

Mr. Angelo Cortese, harpist, who rendered the wedding music, arranged a program including several numbers, which had never before been kiven in Memphis. Before the ceremony he played "My Dreams" and "Sunshine," with the bridal cherus from Lohengriti" as the processional, while "Celestial Echoes" served as a soft accompaniment to the marriage vows. Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered as the recessional and immediately afterward Mr. Cortese played a bright, springtime scremate.

The marriage service took place at 2 o'clock, the Rev. A. B. Curry, D.D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, officiating in the presence of only the members of the two families. The bride was never more charming than on the occasion of her marriage. For the ceremony and the trip following she wore a handsome tallored suit of dark blue cloth with touches of hand-embroidery in black and malogany, with a becoming spring had of dark blue straw and taffeta trimmed with blue wings, with which she were and valley illies.

Following the ceremony the guests had the pleasure of viewing the bundreds of beautiful wedding gifts, which hore evidence of the popularity of Dr. Williamson and his bride, after which a delicious wedding menu was served. In the dining room the bride's cake held the place of honor on the handsomely draped table, where an artistic touch was added by spring blossoms and lighted tapers.

Dr. and Mrs. Williamson left for a Southern bridal trip and upon their return early in April will be at home to their friends at 1168 Poplar avenue.

Among the wedding guests from a distance were Dr. Williamson is mother and sister. Mrs. G. W. Williamson, of Milan, Tenn., and Mrs. Thomas Clark of Fulton. Ky.

Belote-Nunnery.

Belote-Nunnery.

The Union Avenue Baptist church will be the scene of a beautiful wedding on Thursday evening when Miss Marguerite Belote will become the bride of Mr. William J. Nunnery.

The church will be beautifully decorated for the occasion with paims and smilax forming an effective background for clusters of roses artistically arranged in wicker baskets.

Prof. Fred North will preside at the organ rendering a specially selected program of wedding music and just before the ceremony Mrs. F. N. Gill will sing "For You Alone," by Geell and "Until." by Sanderson.

The marriage will be solemnized at $23 o'clock, the Rev. H. P. Hurt officiating in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

The pretty bride will wear an exquisite draped robe of white georgetts crepe with pearl garniture. Her wedding veil will be wreathed in orange blessoms and she will carry a shower bouquet of Bride roses and valley lilies.

The maid of honor, Miss Alice Bigelow, will be gowned in ping georgette crepe and will carry an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Following the ceremony the members of the bridal party will be entertained at a wedding reception in the home of Mrs. F. N. Gill, which will be artistically decorated with a profusion of spring blossoms.

A delicious salad course will be served to the guests.

For the occasion Mrs. Gill will be gowned in white beaded georgette crepe.

Mr. Nunnery and his bride, whose popularity is attested by hundreds of beautiful wedding gifts, will be at home to the friends on Union avenue until the completion of their own home on Faxon avenue.

Jones Taliaferro.

The marriage of Miss Helen D. Jones to Mr. Charles Albert Taliaferro, Jr., was quietly solemnized in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. B. Keily, on Stonewall place, on Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, the Rev. William James officiating in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Spring flowers were effectively used in the decorations. Following the coronony a buffet-supper was snjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro will be at home in Memphis.

Marks, Miss., Boys Capture Family Of Catamounts In Traps

MARKS, Miss., Feb. 28. (Spl.)—Hall and Lex Denton and Eugene Smith have been setting out traps for some time in an effort to catch a few varmints for sport and for the fancy prices skins are bringing on the market these days. A few days ago they went to take a look at their traps and, to their surprise, they had caught a couple of catamounts. Desiring to take one of them alive one of the boys threw his coat over the cat, another grabbed it by the hind legs. They soon had the cat trussed up to their liking, string him on a pole and brought it to town. Feeling that one live wildcat was about all they could stand for, they killed the other.

The next day they took another trip other.

The next day they took another trip to the traps and found that they had caught the balance of the cat's family, which was one good sked kitten, which they brought in alive. The old cat is said to have been the largest ever seen in this section. They have not decided as yet whether the cats will be denated to the zoo or turned loose for a chase with the dogs.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR GATES CONCERT SEATS

Judging from the demand for seats to hear Lucy Gates, regarded by many as the foremost soprane of the United States, there will be some who will be mable to hear her on next Monday night at the Lyric theater. Mrs. John Flautt, who is managing the coming of this song bird, feels elated over the demand. She says that even though many folks not well posted as to musical affairs in this country do not know as much of Miss Gates as they do of some others who sing, the chief reason lies in the fact that this singer, who is creating such a furor wherever she appears, has only been before the American public a couple of years or so.

One of the artists who gave a concert here some weeks ago, when told of the coming of Miss Gates, said without reservation that she was the most delightful concert singer before the public. Others, not quite so fulsome, admit she has no superior.

RESIST OLD RATES

The Memphis Chamber of Commerce, according to W. H. Hayley, secretary, is lining up with other members of the Mississippi Valley association to fight the efforts of railroads serving the Northeastern ports of the United States to secure a return of the old preferentials on rates to these ports.

A few months ago the Mississippi Valley association was successful in having tariffs promulgated equalizing tates to the North Atlantic ports and Galf ports from interior points such as Memphis, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago. When the Eastern railroads realized what had been done they prepared to fight this equalization and have the old discriminations restored. Mr. Hayley said. The chambers of commerce of the cities mentioned, together with the New Orleans chamber, will take especial care to safeguard the interests of the gulf ports in this fight.
